I chose this document because it allowed me to create instructions that solved an issue I had at the beginning of the semester, hopefully these instructions can help future students if they have the same issues with discussion posts that I had.

I included a lot of screenshots to ensure that it would be obvious where to click.

To ensure that this document was usable I had my parents make a video of their dogs and follow the instructions. The instructions worked pretty well. My dad did not have any issues, but my mom had trouble with the installation process. However, I think the standard student is more technically literate than she is.
